The candidate shall indicate on the candidate's declaration of candidacy the congressional districts in this state where the candidate's candidacy is to be submitted to the electors. Any candidate for the presidency of the United States who has raised at least five thousand dollars for the primary election in each of twenty states from individuals, with a~~

(E) Section 3513.151 of the Revised Code applies in regard to candidates for delegate and alternate to the national convention of a political party selected pursuant to this section. The state central committee of the political party of any presidential candidate who files a declaration of candidacy pursuant to division (A) of this section shall file with the secretary of state the rules of its political party in accordance with division (E) of section 3513.151 of the Revised Code.

(F) The procedures for the selection of candidates for delegate and alternate to the national convention of a political party set forth in this section and in section 3513.12 of the Revised Code are alternative procedures, and if the procedures of this section are followed, the procedures of section 3513.12 of the Revised Code need not be followed.

SECTION 2. That existing section 3513.121 of the Revised Code is hereby repealed.

SECTION 3. (A) Notwithstanding any provision of the Revised Code to the contrary, in the year 2012 primary elections shall be conducted as follows:

(1) On March 6, 2012, a primary election shall be conducted for the purpose of nominating candidates for all offices that are scheduled for election in 2012 pursuant to section 3501.02 of the Revised Code, except candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President of the United States, candidates for the office of member of the United States House of Representatives, candidates for at-large delegate and alternate to the national convention of a major political party, and candidates for district delegate and alternate to the national convention of a major political party. (B)(1) The primary election held on June 12, 2012, shall be conducted in the manner provided under Title XXXV of the Revised Code for other primary elections, except that only the names of candidates for nomination for the offices of President and Vice-President of the United States and candidates for the office of member of the United States House of Representatives shall appear on the ballot at that election, and the names of candidates for at-large delegate and alternate to the national convention of a major political party and candidates for district delegate and alternate to the national convention of a major political party may appear on the ballot at that election.

(2) Any declaration of candidacy and petition or declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate filed by an individual seeking nomination for the office of President or Vice-President of the United States, member of the United States House of Representatives, at-large delegate and alternate to the national convention of a major political party, or district delegate and alternate to the national convention of a major political party that is filed for the 2012 primary election before the effective date of this act is null and void.

(C) Notwithstanding any provision of section 3501.01 or any other provision of the Revised Code to the contrary, in 2012 no special election shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August. A political subdivision or taxing authority may hold a special election on the day of the June 12, 2012, primary election. A political subdivision or taxing authority that wishes to hold a special election on the day of the June 12,
